Introduction

So here's the way I see it, and it really doesn't matter to me if you take it to heart or not. I'm not running for anything, I don't want to be famous, I've pretty much missed the bus for becoming a teen idol in this lifetime, I don't live on a cell phone or send text messages, I don't post crap on social media or any of the other trendy faddish brainwashed stupidity that people pay their money for to give themselves brain tumors. I used to be considered a pretty bright guy, but now that I'm just old and grumpy, and my brains are starting to rattle around inside my skull like a coffee can full of marbles....

Since I came from a highly dysfunctional family (like most of us), I never wanted to father any children. So as I always say, I consider all the children of the coming generations to be the kids I'd like pass along what I have figured out, while I am still able.

It's a beautiful crisp late Fall day in the mountains where I live, and I just noticed about 50 yards from my window there are three deer foraging in my yard. As someone who grew up in the concrete jungle and suburbs of Chicago, even though I may look like an old fart, I am still just a little kid at heart, fascinated and in awe of nature. -Not that I can claim to be any kind of big naturalist or anything, -probably more like R.Crumb's cartoon character, Mr. Natural.

I read last night on the Internet that there were bombings and terrorist attacks in Paris, France that killed 128 people. Most of us react in horror that human beings could do these horrible things to one another for some abstract ideology. I suppose the ISIS people do this utterly insane and desperate stuff in retaliation for the equally insane stuff that other countries' militaries are perpetrating in their countries. This morning as the world reeled in horror, a friend in Australia sent me an article on the complicity of Western intelligence agencies and governments with British and Saudi funding to create this event as another false flag like 911 to pull the noose of control over the people of Earth even tighter. It's said that the wheels of Karma grind slowly, but exceedingly fine; so if there is indeed Cosmic Justice, the people behind these atrocities can probably look forward to whirling like so many rotisserie chickens over a slow fire for a very long time.

As long as mankind is hungry, homeless, cruel, brutal, hateful and ideologically stupid, ...civilization has not yet begun. The concept of peace, tolerance, kindness, respect, non-judgement, Forgiveness, and the application of the “Golden Rule” are lessons that humanity as a whole has yet to learn. The citizens of the world are largely hood-winked by manipulative politicians, religious leaders, the military and the media to work as a seamless mind control machine instilling thoughts and beliefs that are not their own, to be brutally used against others for the financial and political agendas of a very small elite minority.

Most people would be surprised to learn that there are a small handful of people who decide who lives and who dies on this planet. I was once invited to become one of them. -I declined....

The concept of God is totally misunderstood and xenophobically used to control and manipulate people into thinking “Only people JUST LIKE US, could possibly be Blessed. Without a doubt, we're Right, and everybody else who thinks differently is WRONG, and therefore must be killed immediately for the glory of Allah, or Jesus, or Buddha, or Mohammad or somebody else we can blame for our own meathead brutality who isn't around to correct our petty misconceptions.”

Those guy's concepts of God are just too small, and don't take into account how utterly incredibly magnificent God truly IS! Anybody who is on the real side of a GOD of Love, Forgiveness, Tolerance and creation is OK by me. But these “Religious”terrorists are no more on the side God than a riotous bunch of drunken soccer hooligans. One CIA man characterized them as just illiterate young guys who don't read the Koran or anything else; they just want to get out of the grinding poverty of where they live, and make something of themselves. -Even if it means being brainwashed and manipulated into brutally murdering other innocent human beings. -And even themselves.

At the age of 7, I had a falling out with the Methodist Church in Sheboygan, WI. To get me out of the house on Sunday mornings, my parents insisted that I go to Sunday school. I dutifully slogged several miles through the snow and slush. When I stood diagonally across the street from the big limestone church with stained glass window, my feet were frozen in the slush in my galoshes. A thought occurred to me: “Whatever this is really about is probably the most important thing on Earth to understand, and I'm too little now, but maybe someday I will understand. The only thing I Am certain about is that these people know absolutely nothing about it; and I refuse to let them fill me with all their misconceptions. -So instead of going to Sunday school, I went downtown to the soda fountain at the pharmacy. I sat alone at the soda fountain nursing a vanilla phosphate for an hour, and trudged dutifully back home through the snow.

Later when I was 13 years old, I had a profound Spiritual Initiation at the Bahai Temple near my home in Wilmette, Illinois. My dog Rocky and I often went for walks in the Temple gardens. One day something made me try a glass side door and found it open. As Rocky watched through the door, I walked to the exact center beneath the dome and sat in the silence. A very powerful, peaceful, and profound feeling come over me. Around the base of the dome were the names of many of the prophets. I only recognized a few like Jesus, Mohammad, Moses, Buddha. I no longer remember the exact wording, but there was an inscription that said something like: The Teachings of all the Prophets are One. I thought to myself: “Now these guys have got it RIGHT!”

Here's the deal we all share. We're all sitting on the third planet out from a middle range star about 2/3rds of the way out from the center of a spiral Galaxy composed of about 400 Billion other stars, many with planets of their own; in a Universe composed of about 100 Billion other whole Galaxies containing hundreds of Billions of stars and planets each. And now we find out there are a Godzillion whole parallel universes in the Omniverse or Multiverse, all teeming with stars, planets, and Life. Some THING created, radiates, and sustains ALL of this emanated creation. We call that thing many names... -GOD, The “I Am that I Am”, The Lord God Most High.

Everyone on Earth shares a few common factors: we are all serving a life sentence without possibility of parole. But the good news is we get an annual free 584 million mile field-trip around the sun at an average speed of 66,600 mph while riding on the Earth which is rotating East to West beneath us at an average speed of about 1,440 mph. Relative to the center of the Omniverse, everything is riding on the shockwavefront of our Spherical Universe expanding away from the center at 186,000 miles per second, the speed of Light, which is also the speed of Time. So in the past second of our lives, we have ALL just traveled 186,000 miles. -Zippitty Do-Dah! Wheee, it's fun to go fast!

Last night I realized that although I've kind of lost track, I think this is probably my 22nd book. So rather than repeat myself and bore you with all the details about how and why I came to these conclusions, I'll just skip the footnotes and go right to the bottom line so-to-speak.

If you are curious enough to want to look into how I arrived at these conclusions, I'd be honored if you'd like to read some of my earlier stuff.

So here's how I see it at my current level of understanding. The physics is partially based on what I learned from my colleagues Ed Bacinich and Tom Kriz during my fifteen years as Vice President of the Alpha Omega Research Foundation of Palm Beach, FL.:

About 14 Billion years ago, give or take a few millenia, matter and anti-matter particles came together (God only knows how. -Literally.) causing a three dimensional explosion in four dimensional space. This is often called the Big Bang or Point of Origin. This explosion created concentric wavetrains of spherical waves made of the background higher dimensional Light.

For a long time there was nothing until the shockwavefronts expanding and surging through the background created concentric spherical multi-dimensional universes like the layers of an onion, very close together but separated, one of which is ours. If we were to measure from the point of origin to any given point on any of those expanding spherical universes, it defines a measurement of Time. So Time is a vector defining direction, duration, and location. You can see that in our universe Time is symmetrical, but in the overall Omniverse it is asymmetrical.

If we were to look at just our spherical universe from the outside, a God's Eye point of view so-to-speak, expanding outward from the center at the speed of Light; think of inflating a balloon or a soap bubble. If we were to expand our balloon or soap bubble too fast, the surface would get a hole or tear in it. The same thing happens to the surface of our universe, it gets a miniature black hole in it called a Nucleon. But since the surface of the Universe is alive and the emanation of God, it tries to contract or implode to close the hole just like human skin.

If we were to place an imaginary bulls-eye around the mini black hole (Nucleon) and measure the rate of the implosion at each ring, sticking little flags in it like toothpicks in a pie; the outermost undisturbed area is called "the Electromagnetic Field" or "Space" or "the Vacuum" or "the Akasha" or "the Sourcefield". As we measure the implosion at the next inner level as space implodes and accelerates towards the hole, we call the implosion “Gravity”.

As we measure at the next inner level we call it “the weak nuclear force”. As the implosion goes faster and faster and gets smaller and smaller, we call the next level “the strong nuclear force”. When it gets the smallest and fastest, it hits the Speed of Light at the nucleon in the center of the black hole. -Remember that the surface is already expanding radially at the Speed of Light 90° degrees to the Space Direction in the the Time Direction, and so we get the conversion factor of Energy to Matter discovered by Albert Einstein in his famous equation,  $E=MC^2$ . As the implosion splits in Time, it creates a little atomic particle (the Ulton) of hydrogen from which all matter is made to plug the hole, It splits 180 degrees in one direction as magnetism, and electricity in the other. Energy travels along the electromagnetic spherical surface Space direction of our Universe in Waves, and in the Time direction as Particles.

This is a simplified basic description of what conventional academic science calls the “Theory of Everything” (TOE) or “Grand Unification Theory” (GUT).

So SPACE MAKES MATTER. And GRAVITY is the localized implosion of Space making Matter in Time. Gravity is NOT a pull, it is a push from outside as graviton particles implode to make matter. Anything caught in the path of that implosion will be pushed down (giving the illusion of being pulled down) to the surface of the larger object that is being created, -like the Earth for example.

The late Ed Bacinich used to joke: “Chicken Little was right! -The sky IS falling!....”

Tom Kriz defined matter as “Resonance-trapped electro-magnetic energy”.

As described earlier, our Universe is a perfect sphere, and all the Galaxies are swirling on the surface. Just like what you see happening on a big soap bubble. However we do not see the real Universe at all. If you think of being a little speck on a soap bubble, you can look in all directions and see nothing. The only direction you can look and see anything at all, is looking back in time at the center. As Einstein pointed out, we look out into space in a 45 degree light cone. Due to the spiral trajectory of the photon, this light cone bends into a stylized heart or flame shape. When we look out at the night sky, what we see is all the stars and galaxies that actually exist on the spherical Universe projected onto this heart shaped device which functions like a lense. We don't see the real Universe AT ALL. Incidentally, the human aura is also shaped like a flame or heart When a baby is born, it comes out head first along with the point of the aura. This is exactly how mulitple dimensions are embedded in one another. “As above, so below”.

If we want to go to one of those distant stars, we have to bend the time line to gravitationally arrive at the same intersection of time and space to be where that star system will be when the Universe has expanded to that point. Ships that travel in time and space this way create their own mini-universe around themselves, so they are not subject to local gravitational forces. That's why they can accelerate to thousands of mile per hour, instantaneously stop, or make a right turn without affecting the occupants.

When this revolutionary unorthodox model is used, all the Forces can be unified, all the fine structure constants can be derived, planetary orbital paths and speeds calculated. As Space implodes to make the matter of the Sun, there are secondary implosions making the matter of the planets and other celestial bodies, all caught in the larger main gravitational implosion of space creating the Sun.

But here's the thing, that higher dimensional Light which we sometimes call Space, the Vacuum, the Sourcefield, the Akasha is the Emanation of God, and is Alive and has consciousness. It is subtly imprinted by our every thought, word, action, deed, or intention. This imprint is sometimes called the Akashic records.

So, our Immortal Souls, our "I Am" God presences, exist like little holographic bit-players in God's Own virtual reality game of the greater whole as we think reality into existence as we go along. That is why the darkside controllers force-feed us all the negative images of reality that we see on TV, the media, or in the movies. That is how and why we have mindlessly out-pictured and created a world of war, crime, corruption, destruction, cruelty, and brutality. The darkside entities feast on this crap (loosh) with their Satanic shit-eating grins, and most of us are so conditioned by our lifelong exposure to these ideas that we are taught to never stop to think of what we are unconsciously creating. We are unwittingly complicit with the darkside, creating this hideous reality as we blindly go along to get along. Life does NOT have to be this way, even though we have been brainwashed since childhood to believe that it does. Poet T.S. Eliot once said that the way to approach a work of art was to create "a willful suspension of disbelief".

That is exactly what we must do to mentally outpicture a positive reality. We must intentionally suspend our indoctrinated belief in the crapmeisters and in their nasty putrid psychic creation.

For about 35 years I have been friends with Jacque Fresco and Roxanne Meadows of the Venus Project. In my opinion, Jacque's work should be carefully studied to get an understanding of how a systems approach can be used to holistically design a civilization from the ground up using the principle of each individual's highest fulfillment and contribution to the greater good of the society as a whole. Yesterday I received an invitation to attend Jacque's 100th birthday party in Ft. Myers, FL. Sweet jumpin' Jesus! -As I said to Roxanne, "After only a century of thought and hard work, Jacque has finally become 'an overnight success'."

Jacque is always asked how we can make the transformation from the mess our world is in now to the world of peace, prosperity, enlightenment, and fulfillment for everyone that he envisions. How long would it take?

Sir Francis Crick, Nobel Prize Winner for the co-discovery of DNA, found that the profound genetic change from ape men to modern humans did not take the hundreds of billions of years of gradual evolution predicted by Darwinian evolutionary theory. It happened virtually overnight from one day to the next. -OK so maybe it was a week, as is stated in the Bible.

Apparently about 350,000 years ago, give or take a few millenia, a space-faring race came to Earth. They needed a slave workforce to do their mining, fight in their wars, and do other undesirable heavy lifting jobs. So they took a little of the raw DNA material they found here, and improved on it by mixing it with a little of their own, adding a little dash of this and a little dash of that, and basically genetically creating modern men. -US! According to secret space program insider Cory Goode, we are only one of 22 ongoing genetic experiments in this part of the Galaxy that are overseen by a council of 40 alien humanoid races. Earth Humans have only recently even gotten a seat at the table to have any say in this at all. And as we have evolved. we have also unknowingly had some 90 or so genetic upgrades from several different tinkering alien species.

To ensure a high reproductive rate and a steady supply of slaves, those little space gardeners added a few extra hormones to the males, to make them so horny they'd screw a knothole for the first 65 years of their lives. And THAT ladies, is the real reason why it is nearly impossible for a young man to be faithful and monogamous, even if he wants to be. He was genetically designed with an all-powerful overwhelming psychotic sexual desire to squirt his genetic load of sperm into every female vagina he possibly can that can't scurry away fast enough. He can't help it, he was engineered this way. -I'm truly not being an apologist for all my own and my brothers' sexual indiscretions, I'm just telling it the way it is.

Speaking as an old man who has finally outgrown this tortuous condition, you cannot imagine how liberating it is to no longer have my life solely run by an all-powerful totally insane overwhelming life-or-death need to park my willy in some lady's garage!

-Why are kids today not taught in school that it takes a million dollars to raise a child through college age, and if they can't afford that, they'd damn well better keep men's baby batter out of girl's vaginas. A redneck friend of mine has a bumper sticker that says "If you can't feed 'em, don't breed 'em." An inelegant truism.

Children believe in the lies told to them by Country music “-Hey baby, you're so hot you've really got me by the 'nads. Heck honey, you make me want to run right down to the bank and take out a great big ol' whoppin' loan we'll never be able to repay in several generations. Then we'll buy us a big ol' honkin' truck and a doublewide. You'll squeeze out a buncha younguns and in a few years we'll be so miserably in debt I'll just have to drink heavily, run around with floozie skanks, and do drugs to self-medicate the pain. And you'll have to run around like a crack-whore and look for love elsewhere. And then we'll really be in the crapper, -just like everybody else we know....” -The real American Redneck Nightmare. Not exactly the cozy romantic picture it was cracked up to be in movies and songs, is it?

And just for fun, those little space Dickenses who designed us apparently inserted a little genetic hormonal time bomb in the mix. As men and women age, they tend to hormonally switch personalities. -The men tend to become kinder, gentler, less aggressive, and more mellow; while the women often become more shrill, pushy, aggressive, driven, ruthless, and even more controlling and demanding. -Sugar and spice and everything nice, my big furry pink ass!

I often think if those mischievous early space gardeners could see what cruel traumatic pain, havoc, and suffering their imperfect little experiment has caused the men and women of this planet, they must be positively rolling on the floor in sadistic glee. But at least they gave us a whole LOT of material for blues, country, and pop music.

According to Mathilda Macelroy's book Alien Interview in the 1947 Roswell NM alien crash there was a survivor with whom she was assigned to communicate. It was a gray robotoid automaton named Airyl. Airyl claimed about 350,000 years ago, give or take a few millenia, there were two rival factions exploring this remote part of the Galaxy. One was the group Airyl belonged to called the Domain Expeditionary Force from Zeta Reticulae with outposts in the asteroid belt. The other was called the Draco Old Empire (think the proto-Nazi Evil Empire depicted in Star Wars) who demanded order, control, and suppression of unorthodoxy of any kind, particularly artistic expression.

When President John F. Kennedy found out about Airyl, he ordered a plan to communicate with Airyl's people, tell them she was our guest, and to come pick her up. The plan included communication and a face-to-face meeting as a prelude to an exchange program. The scene in the movie Close Encounters shows this when Richard Dreyfuss' character dons a red jump suit and joins eleven others to leave on the alien craft. According to Len Kasten's book Secret Journey to the Planet Serpo, this actually took place in 1968, long after Kennedy was assassinated by elements of his own government. When Kennedy was a young man serving in the US Navy, he was an aide to Admiral James Forrestal and he was present when some of the Nazi scientists were interrogated. So he knew about the Nazi UFO's and their contacts with an alien presence. He may have been the last President to know about the details of the Draco alien presence.

According to Airyl, the Draco Old Empire had decided to outlaw and imprison all their poets, writers, musicians, artists, philosophers, free-thinkers, and no-good-niks for eternity on an out-of-the-way prison planet. -Wanna guess which one? The catch was that the inmates would not know they were being imprisoned; and if they didn't know, they wouldn't try to escape. At the close of each lifetime, the Soul's memory of their life experiences would be artificially electronically erased, making the blanked Soul incarnate lifetime after lifetime into a new baby body with a blank consciousness, remembering nothing of what had gone before. And unaware of their Karmic payback.

But there were a few minor problems with a small number of Souls who for some reason were resistant to the memory erasure and mind-control of the Empire. The truth is we are all Immortal Souls having temporary human experiences for the purpose of Soul growth. That is the true purpose of the Onmiverse: to provide a place for the Soul to experience everything imaginable. -So be careful what you think! In short, the purpose of life is actually pretty simple. It's what every living thing does: GROW!

Some Souls have bleed-through memories of past lives and skills, and a few were born sentient with skill-set memories and faculties learned in previous lifetimes still intact. These individuals exhibited extraordinary abilities at very early ages. They actually instinctively picked up right where they had left off in a previous lifetime. This explains people like Jesus, Buddha, Moses, Confucius, Baha U'lla, Krishna, Mozart, Rembrandt, Thomas Jefferson, Newton, Einstein, Fresco, Leonardo and many others. These rare gifted individuals were often called "geniuses" or more recently they were dubbed with the trendy New Age name "Indigo Children". -In our present matriarchal kid-oriented society, for some reason wisdom is considered much more astonishing and acceptable if it comes from a child rather than an adult. "-Gitchy gitchy goo goo ya ya..." as Lady Marmalade so eloquently put it.

Long ago when the Domain Expeditionary Force arrived here, they were allegedly unaware that the Old Empire had already staked a claim to Earth as a site for their Soul prison; and what was described in many ancient texts such as the Mahabharata, as a "War in the Heavens" ensued. The Old Empire apparently still considers the Earth and it's inhabitants to be their property. The prison is run by wardens or controllers who operate under the authority of the Old Empire to this day. So if you have ever wondered why our planet is so obviously screwed up, it is by deliberate design of the controller/wardens to keep the prison population distracted from waking up and realizing their true condition as Eternal Souls imprisoned as convicts. Simple as that.

Of course being one of the warden/controllers has its privileges. A century and a half ago, the thirteen major bloodline families gained control of the Energy resources of the world and their distribution. And their educational system deliberately never told any of us the truth: the real currency of civilization is not money, it's ENERGY; and he who controls the Energy, controls the world.

Those thirteen Illuminati bloodline families (who try not to interbreed with the lowly prisoners lest they lose their power), rode the greatest Energy cashflow in history from the Industrial Revolution through the present day. They funneled that Energy money into the creation of a privately-owned network of 200 Central Banks such as the Federal Reserve, the Bank of England, Bank of International Settlements etc. In other words, THEY OWN THE MONEY SUPPLY OF THE WHOLE DAMN WORLD!

Most Americans are unaware that the Internal Revenue Service is the Federal Reserve's collection agency. Not a cent of the income taxes we pay goes to the U.S. Government; it goes to re-pay the interest debt of the Government for borrowing the money from the Federal Reserve to operate the country. Incidentally are you aware that paying those taxes is voluntary?! There is no statute that says we have to pay income taxes. We volunteered when we signed the little signature card to open an account at a Federal Reserve bank; and by signing that card we agreed to follow all the rules of the Federal Reserve, including the fine print of paying income taxes. Pretty damn sneaky, eh?

Additionally, through their networks of Banks, Brokers, and Investment Bankers, the thirteen Illuminati families have invested their money in virtually every corporation in the world. -So it is really no exaggeration to say that they own or control pretty much everything on Earth worth owning or controlling! While their mind-control media keeps spewing out lies about virtually everything important, including the one that Billionaires Warren Buffett and Bill Gates are the wealthiest men in the world. They conveniently overlook the fact that the Rothschild Family alone has a fortune conservatively estimated at over $500 Trillion dollars! -So now you know!

You can see how important it is to the Illuminati wardens to use mind-control to keep the inmates in line. They maintain their control by indoctrinating their brand of reality to keep them in power into the minds of the population from cradle to grave. This perception management is vital to their control because there are very few of them, and there are a whole hell of a lot of us! -Seven and a half billion, and counting. So the more people who believe what they are brainwashed by the controllers and told what to believe, the more their reality channel is manifested. MSNBC's Mia Brezinski, daughter of Tri-lateral Commission architect and the theoretician who may have given birth to the idea of 911, Zbigniew Brezinski, recently spelled it out: "Our job (e.g. the 'news' media's) is to tell people what to think." -They don't call it "programming" for nothing!

Since the human race was first genetically re-engineered, the game has always been “Masters and Slaves”. The Controllers are the Masters, we are the Slaves. They created a huge pyramidal social system with all power flowing down from the top. Their alien masters are the eye at the top of the pyramid (as depicted on the one dollar bill), and we are all the slaves on the bottom. In the middle are the governments, secret police, and corporations of the world whose real purpose, whether they understand it or not, is 1. to carry out the hidden agenda of those few Controllers at the top, and 2. To keep all of us slaves on the bottom of the social pyramid from finding out about those invisible few puppeteers at the top. -Who they are, and what they are up to.

If we are to opt for living in a different world, there is a need for all those loyal vassals running the governments, militaries, intelligence agencies, news media, educational factories, corporations, and institutions to re-evaluate what they are mindlessly doing by carrying out the agenda of those hidden Controllers. -Is the money and perks of their mind-controlled “success” that they receive as compensation for their complicity in carrying out the hidden agendas of the Controllers worth losing their Immortal Souls as they spray their own families and loved ones with chemtrails, rig elections, lie through the media, fill the world with intentionally obsolete garbage, destroy whole populations, and on a daily basis basically betray their fellow men and women in every conceivable way? Many a man and woman has awakened from their societally-induced stupor and asked themselves this deep and disturbing question.

For example, it's said that in the Middle East after the American military has either accidentally or on purpose just destroyed a large civilian population, they use electronic devices they refer to as “poppers” to psychotronically cancel out the survivors blind rage, hatred, and desire for revenge. -Mentally incapacitating them from having negative feelings or even mourning their dead. It's as if they're heartlessly saying: “So we just killed your families and everyone you know. Big deal. Have a nice day!”

As Buckminster Fuller said: “We need to develop a new accounting system AS IF PEOPLE MATTER!”

All of us New Age hippie types are always blathering away about “We are One. The Light. Love, Love, love....” But here is what all this really means: All matter is made of gravitationally condensed higher dimensional Light. When we look out at the night sky, we don't see it because we are made of it. Our eyes, our brains, our physical bodies, and our entire consciousness, being, and world. So we actually ARE fundamentally all connected in the Soucefield. Everything is. Furthermore, that Light (aka the vacuum, Akasha, Sourcefield) is subtly alive and we have the ability to co-create it, shape it, and manifest it into anything we concentrate on. That is why it is so important to the Controllers and the background evil (i.e. “energy veil”) entities that feed on the negative energy they call “loosh” to have us outpicturing the destruction and demise of our entire world such as what we see in most of today's science-fiction movies. You might have noticed there is very little outpicturing of a POSITIVE world of the future.

We're shown a world of the future where the technology changes but the people and their values remain the same. It's always “Cowboys and Indians” in space. Shoot the damn varmints! Whether it's a six shooter or a ray gun. Same thing. No difference. We're good, they're bad. We win, they lose. Blah blah blah.

We have been co-creators with God “for billions and billions” (as Carl Sagan would say) of years of everything that exists. We have forgotten that, and have allowed ourselves to mindlessly buy into the manufactured horror spewed forth in movies, TV, the media and so forth. We have the ability to co-create a positive world of the future by consciously changing the channel of reality.

Speaking of which, in 1985 CNN made a Special Report that was aired (once) by accident. When it was discovered that the Report had actually been released to the public, everyone who had worked on it and everyone who knew about it and did not red flag it, was fired. The subject of the report was: Radio Frequency Weapons developed by the military.

I was shown a tape of the program. There were many interesting interviews with prominent scientists such as Robert Beck, who had discovered the frequency that the human brain operated on was the same as the Schuman Resonance 7.8 cps, that is the pulsation rate of the Earth. There were interviews with Stanford Research's Stanley Krippner, and many others.

The interview that made the deepest impression on me was that of a military scientist who said that anyone with his level of understanding and technological expertise could construct a relatively simple electrical device made of components readily available at Radio Shack that when the switch was thrown from one nanosecond to the next, could completely and seamlessly replace a whole town's perception of reality. And of course the military's interest in such devices was that an invading company of soldiers carrying M-16's could be hit by a directed energy pulse from such a device and go from one nanosecond to the next, into thinking they were having a day at the beach in Hawaii carrying a guitar or a surfboard. And they would not be able to tell the difference in the seamless quality of that reality. It was 100% totally real to them.

I thought about this for a long time. When I learned that Stanley Krippner was coming to West Palm Beach where I was living at the time, I went to see him. I told him that I had seen a tape of the broadcast, and he looked very worried. I said that to me that program indicated that we are normally receiving a broadcast of reality we might call *Radio-free God, and that the military had essentially found a way to jam that broadcast of reality and replace it with one of their own. They could just change the channel of reality at will so-to-speak. This is the very real Matrix.

Our friend Dr. Behram Kursonoglu, Chairman of the Global Foundation of Miami and former associate of Albert Einstein, discovered the elegant formula for the Force (aka the SuperForce, the Vacuum, Space, the electro-magnetic Field, the Akasha, the Sourcefield):

$F = C^4/G$ . With F being The Force, C being the speed of Light, and G being the gravitational constant G.

Einstein himself discovered something very important that was only reported many years after his death in a letter that he had written to his daughter Liesl. He said that the most important and powerful Force in the Universe is LOVE. If one were to hold in his/her consciousness the most loving feelings ever experienced for a person, experience, place, pet or what have you; and substitute it in the equation for the Force, so this would be the actual formula for the co-creation of reality:

$R = L^4/G$ . Where R is the manifestation of Reality (aka the Matrix), L being the Love Force, G being the gravitational constant, and this manifestation of Reality is the Force of Love times itself, times itself, times itself; divided by the Gravitational Constant G.

In the Bible there is an alchemical formula “ “If you shall AGREE upon a thing, my Father which art in Heaven will give it to you. ...Because when two or more are gathered in My Name (I AM), there I Am also in the midst of you.” Einstein once said if he could gather the focused attention of ten like-minded people, they could change the world. So if a group can Agree to consciously hold the vision of the positive world of the future, energized by the SuperLoveForce ( $L^4$ ) -we should be able to co-create it.

So getting back to the question of how long would it take to change the world? The Chronon was discovered to be the pulsation rate of the Universe and it is  $10^{-23}$  seconds. So to answer the question Jacque Fresco is always asked: How long would it take change the world? To hold the thought and outpicture a whole new reality? Probably about  $10^{-23}$  seconds, which from our slow human point of view is to say almost instantaneously!

Co-creating this positive world of joy, peace, prosperity, and personal fulfillment is the REAL work we all have to do. Remember, the key to co-creation is AGREEMENT.

OK, so let's practice “a willful suspension of disbelief”, and just for fun AGREE that all the foregoing is true. What kind of world would we want to create?

We are FREE to become Co-Creators with Almighty God. Let's AGREE to live in a world of Peace, Prosperity, Good Health, and Good-will for everyone. It is based on the concepts of Right Relationships with everyone and everything. Men and Women, parents and children, siblings and each other, employers and employees, governments and the governed, teachers and students, producers and consumers. The guiding principle of the civilization is the Law of One, or the Golden Rule: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you (because Karmically it will be done unto you).

One of the most important keys to creating such a world of peace and prosperity for everyone is the release of all the advanced technology that has been hidden away in security classifications by the military/industrial complex within the secret governments. The real currency of civilization is not money, but Energy. The powers-that-were used the building of a fossil fuel empire to enslave everyone, but the release of Free Energy from the vacuum technology would free everyone.

As Jacque Fresco has pointed out, many of the problems our civilization has been facing are technological in nature and can only be solved by more advanced and less restrictive technologies being released to be used by the general public. My brilliant friend the late Dr. Carl Leissler told me in the 80's “I know you're a Star Trek fan, Millard. There are many things that are secret and should remain secret, so I'm not going to tell you everything. But I will tell you this: Everything you've seen on Star Trek, we already have!” The controllers and their black ops scientists have been suppressing and sitting on these incredible inventions for generations. Secretly developing these things is a big part of where that unaccounted for $191 Billion/year in the American military has gone for many decades. The achievement of the men and women who created these hidden suppressed technologies is a milestone in human existence. It is shameful that their tremendous contributions are unacknowledged and not freely made available. After all, we already paid for them.

All matter is made of higher density (dimensional) Light that is gravitationally condensed. So if we were to release the technology of the Star Trek “Replicator”, we can artificially make any kind of matter, and with an engineering program attached, we can make that matter into anything we desire. -At a uniform cost directly from the vacuum, and with no further degradation and destruction of the environment.

So a diamond the size of a softball, a kilobar of gold, a barrel of oil, a cubic yard of cement, or a bran muffin are all WORTH the same amount. The entire fossil fuel economy based on scarcity suddenly NO LONGER EXISTS. We no longer have to destroy the environment to get the raw materials we need to make anything, it can be made with NO environmental degradation. We can make building materials or food, or anything else we desire.

And even more importantly, we would no longer have to miserably sell the enslaved hours of our lives to perpetuate the deception of the controllers.

And speaking of building materials, the single family homes of the future would not be made of wood, nailed together by carpenters. The future of construction is in the discovery of new kinds of materials like structural foams and crystallized polymers made of recycled materials that can be 3D printed by big computerized machines that can print something like a passive solar earth-sheltered home with a greenhouse living room in which the occupants can grow their own organic, inexpensive, highly nutritious food right inside the home where it will be consumed. The entire super-insulated futuristically designed home, complete with built-in cabinets, furniture, plumbing and all can be automatically printed out in less than 24 hours.

By treating the living space of the home like the combustion chamber of an internal combustion engine, routing the air intake through tuned underground tubes, the intake air is heated, cooled, humidified, and ionized to whatever climate the occupants desire; combined with tuned intake and exhaust systems to have a free-flow of air throughout the home. These concepts of airflow are well understood in the world of racing car and motorcycle engines. The floors, walls, and airlock doors maintain an even temperature inside, regardless of the temperature or conditions outside. These buildings could also be made to be submersible if necessary.

A simple twelve volt automotive-type electrical system with inverters enables the home to be free of the electrical grid with it's so-called "smart" meters. Interior light can be provided by a central Captain's crystal illuminated by the sun during the daylight hours and by a single 12 volt LED at night, with a network of fiber optic cables built-in to the walls to pipe light wherever it is wanted. Color therapy for health could easily be incorporated as well.

Automobiles can be made of injection molded chassis with suspension bolted on both ends, like the old Can-Am race cars. Think of two bathtubs side-by-side, with similar configurations added to the back for additional passenger capacity. The tubs are enclosed in a housing which is filled with electrolytic gel, energy storage for solar generated electricity driving two-way Tesla turbines attached to each wheel. The cars can be either self-driven or computer driven on roadways. Over time, this will give way to levitating vehicles which will give real meaning to the term “off-road vehicle”.

This is the Time of Conscious Choice for the people of Earth. What kind of Civilization do we really want? We all have the ability to outpicture a positive world of the future for everyone. I believe one of the key elements of co-creation is that the good things we would wish for ourselves and/or our loved ones, we would also wish for everyone.

We need to Forgive and Forget what was in the past and envision a world of plenty for everyone. Instead of the selfish accumulation of wealth and power for oneself, each of us takes the greatest responsibility of which we are capable for the co-creation of the future of our world by making the greatest contribution to the overall good of everyone. As my old friend Jacque Fresco used to say “The more highly evolved YOUR children become, the better MY (and everyone's) Life will be!

So the following section is the Law of One restated as the best advice I can leave for future generations: Treat everyone with the same kindness, courtesy, goodwill, respect, tolerance, Love and understanding that you would wish for yourself and your most precious loved ones.

And May the Blessings Be!

Keep on keeping on!

Bon Voyage, Amigos!

The Law of One

Millard Deutsch & Bill Donavan

5.26.2016

We, the sentient beings of Planet Earth, the third planet away from our Sun, hereby pledge to have reverence, honor and respect for all life forms everywhere and to do no harm.

Our guiding principle of law is the Law of One: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. Do not do to others anything painful or distressing that you would not want done to yourself. This especially applies to the declaration of war for the profiteering of weapons, resources, and political alliances.

All other archaic man-made laws that are not consistent with this main guiding principle hereby deserve to be rescinded, neither respected nor obeyed. Artificial man-made boundaries of countries, states, religions and principalities are to be rescinded. Nationalism and religious differences that have separated people from one another have outlived their usefulness, and are not consistent with the Law of One. Militaries are to disarm and learn problem-solving to help people live better lives.

We consider all the resources of the Earth to be the common heritage of all Life on and within the Earth, the Air, the Fire, and beneath the Waters. Planned obsolescence is obsolete. Manufacturers must be encouraged to make the highest quality long-lasting products in order to make those items available to everyone.

We consider and require that the current financial monetary debt slavery system be abolished and replaced with a resource based economy. Those perpetrators, benefactors, and enforcers of the old monetary system are to be brought before a tribunal court jury made up of a cross section of people who were harmed by their greedy actions. Those actions will be compared to the standard of the Law of One. If found by their fellow men and women to be guilty of transgression of the Law of One; they will be banished with an initial year's worth of tools, food, and supplies to a remote inescapable island with their co-conspirators and mates who encouraged them for their own profit in order to learn to live solely off of the shared resources of the island, and experience first-hand a resource-based economy.

One of the most important devices brought back in the mid 1970's by the astronauts who participated in the exchange program to the planet Serpo as described in Len Kasten's book Secret Journey to the Planet Serpo, was a device that could read the Akashic records and display them in 3D. When this technological miracle is released, it not only means we will have the true history of our planet depicted in real time, but the thoughts, actions, intentions, and outcomes of everyone will be revealed. There will no longer be courtroom debates about he said/she said. Everyone's true motives and actions will be revealed. The tribunals that will be conducted about those who perpetrated crimes against humanity will be shown. It means Judgement Day is at hand, and no legalistic wrangling will be possible. True Justice will prevail.

Those found guilty by their peers will not be allowed to associate with or inflict their corrupt twisted values on decent humane adults or children ever again; until and unless they have sincerely repented and demonstrated their complete understanding, rehabilitation, and compliance with the Law of One. We value Repentance and Forgiveness; but not manipulation, service to self, greed, and ego.

All technologies will be vetted by an Elder Council. Those technologies that are deemed to be destructive to the well being of the planet, and the inhabitants thereof, will not be implemented. These include detrimental technologies such as genetic manipulation for profit, weapons of mass destruction, nuclear tech, and medical therapies that kill the patient for profit. Positive technologies such as vacuum energy, electromagnetic healing modalities, and those that heal the environmental damage of previous generations will be promoted, and development will be assigned to post-corporate structures and trusts. All new tech will have a multi-year plan of insertion into society for minimal economic and psychological impact. This eliminates planned obsolescence, but does not mean that improvements cannot be made to inexact first-run releases that might have errors as engineers are only human and make mistakes. Also, this gives time to analyze whether the tech that is planned for insertion is the best use of that concept, and improvements before insertion.

All individuals or organizations that are found guilty of suppression of positive technologies will be judged accordingly, and if suggestions of reparations are refused, to be banished with the previous group. Those guilty of promotion of destructive technologies are to receive the same treatment, especially the military, which will be reassigned as a planetary defense force instead of infighting amongst themselves on the same world.

Those serving in the military will be trained to be problem solvers, trained to help and assist the people of the world in every way. -A true Peace Corps.

Instead of being the last in the loop, and functioning as a knowledge restricting entity used to preserve the status quo, universities are to be testing grounds for theoretical concepts as well as physical R&D for those projects approved by the Council. This gives students a head start on the new tech as well as an understanding of the tremendous responsibility that goes along with implementation. Centers of learning will be funded through licensing of the tech administered by a trust. This is done to prevent possible misuse of positive tech, and twisting it to negative purposes. If that is found to occur, licensure is revoked by the offending entity with swift judgment afterwards.

Whistleblowers are to be commended, and not condemned. If an injustice is found to be occurring, any citizen can come before the Council in an anonymous and private meeting to air their grievances, and then to determine whether an investigation is warranted.

The educational system must be completely revised, beginning with prospective parents. It makes no sense that a person needs to take a test to drive an automobile, but not to bring a child into the world. The more conscious, enlightened, and self-educated one's children, the better everyone's life will be. Children will be instructed in how to problem-solve, think for themselves, and how to apply a systems approach to redesigning society as a whole. Consciousness is more important than data manipulation.

We honor the Lifeforce that animates each of us; the Light, and Sound of the Creator of All that is, was, or ever shall be. May the Love, the Light, and the Sound of the Divine Creator Bless all of Creation everywhere with Peace, Purpose, Prosperity, Growth, Robust Health, Tranquility, Abundance, Wisdom, and Love all ways.

May the Blessings Be for each and all....

Keep on keeping on!

Bon Voyage, Amigos!

Sunset Man

Millard Deutsch

*Sunset man singing silently on a solitary shore.
Music was the best part of his life, -who could ask for more?
Musician friends gave him much of the fun he had in life.
They outlasted everything, -even his search for a wife.*

*Oh some of them were amateurs, some were the best in the world.
Some were spoiled prima-donnas, some were beautiful girls!
Three Dog Danny asked what new writing he would try?
Jimmy quipped: “ Too old to rock and roll, but still too young to die!”*

*We’re all alone through all our lives, not very many know it.
Friends, families, lovers come and go, -not very many show it.
When everything is said and done: It’s just between us and God.
When everything is said and done: It’s just between us and God.*

*He very happily learned his part to every song he ever played.
He tried not to play a phony part with women, just to get laid.
He tried to be a friend to all, loyal, trustworthy, and true.
Anyone who’s ever tried it, knows how hard that is to do!*

*Oh some of them were amateurs, some were the best in the world.
Some were spoiled prima-donnas, some were beautiful girls!
